

HONORS NEWSLETTER

JANUARY 27, 1989

CU

Don't forget Can Can and South Pacific

Don't forget that Venture trips often are eligible for reimbursement so check their schedule for something interesting and challenging.

Don't forget the meeting which is coming up next Thursday at 12:30. We will be supplying lunch and informative speakers.

If anyone is interested in helping with the upcoming social, please contact Kris Cresimore, Neil, Heather, or Angela Almond.

Now is the time to be thinking about being a Summer Orientation Counselor, a SAFE Counselor (SAFE is a program designed for minority students to ease their transition into college), and an RA next year. If you are interested in any of these programs, contact the following people for details: Summer OC-Suzy Presson, Dean of Students Office, 217 King; SAFE-Greg Davis, Dean of Students Office, 217 King; RA-your RA or RC, or the Central Residence Life Office in Scott. To be an RA next year you MUST attend an interest meeting in the Maple Community Room on Sunday, Jan. 29 at 8PM. All of these programs are good ways to help yourself develop leadership skills, gain knowledge of the University, get to know interesting people, and a wide variety of other benefits, not to mention which they all pay you hard cash and benefit the whole University community. Think about it.

Most departments are now in the process of placing people for internships, some may just be starting while others are finishing up, so if you're interested in an intership get over to your major department and see what's up.

Have a safe week, folks.

THE OFFICE